The Public Trustee commends Emerald's carers

The Public Trustee of Queensland, Peter Carne today thanked Emerald's carers for their dedication and commitment.

'As part of Carers Week celebrations being held from 16 October, I would like to commend local carers for the important role they play in the community,' Mr Carne said.

'Over 2.6 million Australians identify themselves as carers, yet the figure is potentially much higher as many carers do not formally acknowledge their role.

'Carers Week is a way for the community to acknowledge the people who make such a difference in others' lives.

'Being a carer is one of the toughest jobs in the community and it often goes unrewarded.

'A carer can be any age, gender and nationality. I am sure we all know a carer and this is a great opportunity for us to thank them.

'I am pleased that staff from the Public Trustee Office will be attending a morning tea hosted by Carers Queensland to support local carers.

'I encourage all carers to get involved in this event. You will be able to meet with other carers to share ideas and obtain support,' Mr Carne said.

The morning tea and comedy show are being held 10:30am-1:00pm bookings essential, phone 07 4921 4486.
