Join the Public Trustee for High Tea

Gold Coast residents and community, not for profit and non government groups are invited to join The Public Trustee for high tea and a performance by musicians from the Queensland Symphony Orchestra.

The Public Trustee of Queensland, Peter Carne said the high tea is being held 8 September at the Southport RSL Memorial Club to thank the Gold Coast community.

'We aim to say thanks to the people of the coast, by providing an afternoon of entertainment and information,' said Peter Carne.

'As well as music by some of the state's leading musicians, we'll be discussing the importance of a making a Will and Enduring Powers of Attorney and answering people questions about planning for the future.

'Many people don't realise The Public Trustee's Wills are 100% free at no cost the Queensland taxpayer, as we're self-funding. We've been making Wills since 1916.

'We also manage the financial affairs of over 7,400 people with incapacity for decision making, this often includes paying their bills and expenses and managing their investments.

'In addition to learning more about Wills and Enduring Powers of Attorney, our Gold Coast high tea is a great opportunity for people to meet other members of their local community,' said Peter Carne.
