Boosting Trustee Services to Rural Queenslanders

The Public Trustee of Queensland Mr Peter Carne encouraged visitors to Farm Fest 2010 to take advantage of the Public Trustee's free services offered to rural Queenslanders.

'The Public Trustee is proud to support the work of our rural and regional men and women and are boosting the availability of our Will and trustee services in Toowoomba's surrounding areas,' Mr Carne said.

'Increased travelling Will services for the region means more people can access the services provided by the Public Trustee without having to go to the next town, a boon for Queenslanders from the bush.

'This is part of the government's Toward Q2 vision of creating a fairer Queensland,' he said.

Mr Carne, said his organisation was committed to serving the people of our State, especially those in rural and remote areas.

'Not only do we employ over 31 staff at our Toowoomba Office, the popularity of our recently introduced a travelling free Will making service to Warwick is being extending to include regular visits to Dalby and Kingaroy over the coming year,' Mr Carne said.

'The Public Trustee has been serving Queenslanders since 1916 and we are continuing that proud tradition of service with 15 offices across the State employing local people who understand their local community.

'I encourage everyone who does not have a current Will to contact your nearest Public Trustee Office, or if you are attending Farm Fest please drop by and speak to one of our helpful staff members,' he said.
