

Media Release

September 2010

The Public Trustee brings the Queensland Symphony Orchestra to Cairns Retirement Village

The Public Trustee is proud to sponsor a free Life Music concert, by four professional musicians from the Queensland Symphony Orchestra.

The Queensland Symphony Orchestra's experienced quartet will be playing a selection of excerpts from the most well known pieces and greatest composers of classical music.

This free concert will be bringing music to a potential audience of over 100 retirees at RSL Care's Farnorha Retirement Community and is part of The Public Trustee supporting the local retirement community.

Together with the Queensland Symphony Orchestra, The Public Trustee is bringing music to older people who may not be able to easily access a performance.

Representatives from The Queensland Symphony Orchestra (Megan Steckly) The Public Trustee (Kirrily Turner) and Farnorha retirement community will be available for interview.

ENDS

The Public Trustee provided over $22.1 Million in community service obligations to Queensland last financial year at no cost to the Queensland community. From our 16 offices located across Queensland we prepared over 24,000 wills for free. We charge a fee for service at very competitive rates.